

2023 Call for ALISE Academy Proposals

Deadline: March 17, 2023

Notification of acceptance: May 19, 2023

We seek proposals for the 2023 ALISE Academy that address the conference theme, “Bridge the Gap: Teaching, Learning, Practice, and Competencies.” The ALISE Academy is a half-day interactive workshop that will take place on Monday, October 2, 2023.

Description of the Academy:

The focus of the ALISE Academy will align with the conference theme and focus on how we connect, engage, and learn through theory and practice within our LIS programs and curricula. We will engage with one another around potential strategies, best practices, and ideas that can help bridge gaps within our LIS programs, curriculum and practice.

Proposal topics may vary and include, but are not limited to:

- Integration of practices and competencies into pedagogical approaches
- LIS programs prepare students to develop core competencies in their chosen area of the field and apply these standards to practice
- Methods of aligning curriculum and learning experiences that help develop library and information professionals who understand theory and research and can apply this learning on the job
- Assessing student competencies and professional dispositions
- Ways for students to develop competencies
- Bridging international standards, guidelines and competencies
- Pedagogical approaches for global learning
- Methods for preparing students for the workforce

- How to connect theory and practice in the classroom
- Curriculum that emphasizes interdisciplinary connections

The format can vary; previous academies included a kickoff presentation by one or more workshop leaders, followed by small group activities, discussions, and large group wrap-up. Other interactive formats are encouraged.
