

2023 Call for Works in Progress Posters

Deadline: March 17, 2023

Notification of acceptance: May 19, 2023

Attendees of the conference at any stage of their career are invited to share current research and research-in-progress through posters presented at the Works in Progress Showcase.

A poster for the works-in-progress showcase should explain the process of your research project or agenda. All approaches are welcomed, including any mix of qualitative, quantitative, mixed-methods, action, participatory, evaluation, design, development, or other methods. You may wish to highlight the particularly difficult, complex, or otherwise thorny aspects of your work. Participants will receive feedback in an informal setting, creating an excellent opportunity to identify collaborators and obtain input that may enrich research. It may also facilitate collaboration and development of new educational initiatives.

The posters for the Works in Progress Showcase are neither refereed nor judged. Space is limited, however, and acceptance will be based on space availability with priority given to posters that align with the conference theme, “Bridge the Gap: Teaching, Learning, Practice, and Competencies”.

Eligibility:

All conference attendees are welcome to submit posters of their work in progress. Doctoral students may not submit the same research presented in the doctoral student research competition.

Submission Requirements and Instructions:

All submissions must be entered via the ALISE 2023 submission system, EasyChair.
