

FUEL YOUR LIS CAREER WITH THE ALISE EMERGING SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Target Audience: Doctoral students and early-career LIS education professionals in their first 5 years of careers.

ALISE's Emerging Scholars Program supports the organization's mission by providing an avenue for future LIS academics to engage, learn, and grow as educators. In recognition that the role of a LIS educator is in constant evolution and one which carries with it great complexity, the Emerging Scholars seeks to organize, coordinate, and deliver programs that help prepare, educate, and inform those new to the professoriate.

The program will be conducted as a series of online webinars and a conference workshop that will address current issues related to teaching practice, research success, and service in today's academic environment.

The program supports new scholars' needs as they enter the field of LIS education, to support their growth in the profession.

APPLICATION DEADLINE
THURSDAY
JUNE 30, 2024
@ 11:59 PM PT

Tentative Dates*

Webinar #1

September 19, 2024, 7:00pm - 8:15pm ET
Teaching During Changing Times: Exclusive Insights from Award-Winning LIS Educators

In-Person Event

October 14, 2024, 1:00pm - 4:00pm PT
Emerging Scholars @ ALISE 2024

Webinar #2

February 20, 2025, 7:00pm - 8:15pm ET
From Collaboration to Publications: Enhancing Research Productivity Through Collaborative Relationships

Webinar #3

March 20, 2025, 7:00pm - 8:15pm ET
Winning in the LIS Job Market

Program and dates subject to change.*

